

Nick Child

Intro to Internet Computing

Project 1 Write Up

I found this project to be very enjoyable. I have not attempted to write a web page in a long time and it was fun to create it on any topic. I play guitar alot and I always have a debate with my friend about the two most popular guitar models, the Les Paul and the Stratocaster. I am a supporter of the Strat and it showed on my web page. I have taken an online course at freeCodeCamp.org on web development so I did not have too much trouble making my webpage. I probably spent more time on the CSS then on the HTML. My text editor was sublime ( I hope that is alright) and I tested my web page on Firefox. I had a hard time getting the elements to align right and to make the web page more aesthetically pleasing. I have ubuntu on my computer so I simply used the secure copy command, scp, to transfer my project over to my lamp account. All in all, I had a fun time making the project and I am actually happy with how it turned out.